this book considers and discusses aspects of the management of the d oyle carte opera company in the twentieth century since the death of its founder richard d oyle carte and concentrates on key events that contributed to its demise in 1982 in this book paul seeley follows the analytical model that proposes no single factor triggered the collapse but rather several both external and internal in the case of an opera company the external factors may include public taste and market forces but more significant are the internal factors such as the management decisions taken in response to external factors and how these compare with the original artistic aims aspirations and business models of the founder this is a study by someone with close observation of the administration at the 1982 demise seeley was assistant to the company manager having earlier served on the music staff the book is a must read for music historians theatre historians and arts management professionals as an uncompromisingly critical history of the d oyle carte opera company it is designed to serve a wider public not just the gilbert and sullivan opera specialist but anyone keen to debate the desirability of private or public sponsorship of the performing arts the first biography of richard d oyle carte this is a critical survey of the career of the impresario whose ambitions went beyond the famous partnership of gilbert and sullivan errors and misconceptions in current literature are challenged and corrected to give a truer portrayal of one of the most influential music theatre promoters in the nineteenth century in frozen in time susan snow lukesh takes a mid nineteenth century photo album from new bedford massachusetts created against an almost unmentioned backdrop of the civil war and moves the people seemingly frozen in time backwards and forwards offering details of daily living marrying working and dying of both the individuals whose portraits are included as well as their kin and colleagues the details of daily living of the marrying working and dying of the neighbors and kin in the photo album from new bedford demonstrate the personal side of the development of this famous whaling capital through its transition to a strong mill economy these details also show how the financial and intellectual capital of the city fueled development throughout the united states this album with its very small cast of neighbors and kin thus unfolds to offer a glimpse of the rich panorama of nineteenth century new bedford the biographical sketches of the onstage and offstage players combined with the histories presented of new bedford of nineteenth century social media and of the album itself reveal a snapshot of new bedford s citizens new bedford s history and industries and importantly new bedford s part in the civil war frozen in time presents local history in the broader context of the united states and can be seen as well as an example of petite histoire an account of particular households and neighborhoods reminding readers of the continuing importance of both family and neighborhoods real or virtual the discussion of nineteenth century social media also shows those in the twenty first century that facebook can be seen as old social media on a new platform the photographs from the time of the civil war underscore the arc of photography from its first use capturing images of war to its present use to record violence perpetuated on and perpetuated by police and others at home and around the world lukesh was entrusted with the family album that is the basis for frozen in time and used her experience in research artifact interpretation and writing to develop the narrative of the book she hopes readers will take away the importance and value of both family and history as well as the part of the family in history sephardic jews who voluntarily or forcibly converted to catholicism in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries to avoid persecution or expulsion were known as conversos or new christians some tried to live the double life of a crypto jew outwardly embracing christianity while secretly maintaining jewish practices others were in a state that was neither jewish nor christian and as painful and humiliating as it was these marranos a term for conversos that became abusive actually created a new kind of modern personality by tracing the usage of this disparaging term masks in the mirror also explores the nature of the historical circumstances as it becomes evident that anyone living under these circumstances constantly threatened and persecuted by the inquisition and suspected of being heretics and untrustworthy by their christian colleagues and neighbors could be driven to a state of madness focusing on families and childrearing this book attempts to grasp the structures of feeling that created such madness which while debilitating could often be creative and exciting especially among poets playwrights and novelists it looks at the play of masks the secrecy and the illusion that marranos experienced daily which some attempted to exorcise in their writings and it explores the possibility of applying the concept of marranism generically a bold new history of the rise of the medieval italian commune amid the disintegration of the kingdom of italy in the eleventh and twelfth centuries a new form of collective government the commune arose in the cities of northern and central italy sleepwalking into a new world takes a bold new look at how these autonomous city states came about and fundamentally alters our understanding of one of the most important political and cultural innovations of the medieval world chris wickham provides richly textured portraits of three cities milan pisa and rome and sets them against a vibrant backcloth of other towns he argues that in all but a few cases the elites of these cities and towns developed one of the first nonmonarchical forms of government in medieval Europe unaware that they were creating something altogether new. Wickham makes clear that the Italian city commune was by no means a democracy in the modern sense but that it was so novel that outsiders did not know what to make of it. He describes how as the old order unraveled the communes emerged governed by consular elites chosen by the people and subject to neither emperor nor king. They regularly fought each other yet they grew organized and confident enough to ally together to defeat Frederick Barbarossa the German emperor at the battle of Legnano in 1176. Sleepwalking into a new world reveals how the development of the autonomous city state took place which would in the end make possible the robust civic culture of the Renaissance.

Das Forschungsprojekt online die Zukunft der Zeitung wurde in der Zeit von November 1996 bis Juli 1998 am Lehrstuhl für Journalistik II der Katholischen Universität Eichstätt durchgeführt. Ziel war eine Bestandsaufnahme des Engagements deutscher Tageszeitungen im Internet wobei sowohl Journalisten und Nutzer befragt als auch die Angebote selbst analysiert werden sollten. Die Ergebnisse dieses Projekts bilden die Basis für diesen Sammelband. Sie werden ergänzt um einige Beiträge die den Blickwinkel weiten und vor allem Auslands-Erfahrungen mit dem neuen Medium Internet beisteuern. Insgesamt sollte sich ein umfassendes Bild der gegenwärtigen Nutzung des neuen Mediums durch das alte Medium Zeitung ergeben. In einer Zeit schneller Kommunikationstechnischer Entwicklungen kann es allerdings nur eine Momentaufnahme sein. Über die empirischen Ergebnisse hinaus soll der Band jedoch auch methodische und theoretische Anregungen für die weitere Beschäftigung mit den beiden Medien liefern. Das Projekt wäre ohne die engagierte Mitarbeit von Studentinnen und Studenten nicht realisierbar gewesen und zwar nicht nur deshalb weil sie wie es sonst meist üblich ist mit ihrer Arbeitskraft zum Gelingen beigetragen haben sondern auch wesentlich durch ihr Know-how. Drei Studierende haben im Rahmen des Projekts ihre Diplomarbeit geschrieben nämlich Andre Duckmat, Thias Mehlen und Ulrike Birner. Ihre Beiträge für das Buch hat Christoph Neuberger überarbeitet und um neuere Literatur ergänzt. Mit Rat und Tat stand uns Martin Viertel zur Seite der mittlerweile bei Zeit im Internet neue Webangebote entwickelt.
